The Major Program

The History major develops critical intelligence and fosters an understanding of ourselves and our world through the study of the past—both the “deep past” and the more recent past.

The Program. A student electing a major in History may complete Plan I or Plan II. Plan I enables students to receive a broad education in histories of several geographic areas. Plan II encourages interested students, including those preparing for graduate work in history, to enroll in a seminar, to undertake independent work, and to study the history of historical thought as part of the major. Students preferring more than one field of concentration in research and writing are encouraged to follow Plan II.

Career Alternatives. A degree in History is excellent preparation for a professional career such as teaching, law, journalism, public administration, or business management. Professional schools in these and related fields (including the health professions) are looking for students who can weigh conflicting evidence, evaluate alternative courses of action or divergent points of view, and express conclusions logically in everyday language. These analytical skills are stressed in history classes, and their mastery gives the history student a solid preparation for subsequent training in a specialized career.

A.B. Major Requirements:

Preparatory Subject Matter (Plan I or II) .................................................. 20

Five lower division courses chosen from the following six fields, including at least two from one field, one from a second field, and one from a third field. The fifth course can be taken from any field ........................................ 20

History

History and Philosophy of Science. Courses from the History and Philosophy of Science program may count toward the major. History and Philosophy of Science 130A fulfills upper division requirements in the field of pre-industrial Europe. History and Philosophy of Science 130B, 150, and 180 fulfill upper division requirements in either the U.S. or Modern Europe field. Students can create a field in the History of Science upon consultation with a faculty adviser. They may draw upon the relevant history courses (History 85, 135A, 135B, 135C, 115S, 115E, 115P, and 185B) as well as History and Philosophy of Science offerings to create a field in the History of Science.

Minor Program Requirements:

The minor in History consists of five upper division courses chosen so that at least three courses are in one field and at least one course is in another field. The two fields shall be chosen from among those defined in the major. History and Philosophy of Science courses may be used only with the consent of the History Department Adviser.

Preparation for Careers in Teaching. History majors can pursue rewarding careers in teaching. To ensure your undergraduate coursework prepares you for a subject matter competency test, please contact the History Program Office at 530-752-4383 or http://historyproject.ucdavis.edu/.

Graduate Study. The Department of History offers programs of study and research leading to the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in history. Detailed information may be obtained by contacting the Graduate Adviser.

Graduate Advisers. See the department’s website for updated information.
