Contemporary Leadership

(College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences)
The Science and Society Program offers a minor in Contemporary Leadership, open to all undergraduates regardless of major. The minor provides a broad overview of leadership theory and practice, and engages students in critical thinking, self-reflection, problem solving and multicultural education. Students should contact the minor adviser for course selection and plan approval.

Consult advisors often to insure timely enrollment in Science and Society 192 and 190X as courses with fewer than ten students will not be taught.

Minor Program Requirements:

Graduate Study. The program in Critical Theory offers study and research leading to the Ph.D. with a designated emphasis in Critical Theory. The program provides theoretical emphasis and interdisciplinary perspective to students already preparing for the Ph.D. in one of 14 participating graduate programs (Anthropology, Comparative Literature, Culture Studies, Education, English, French, German, History, Music, Philosophy, Sociology, Spanish, Study of Religion, and Performance Studies). Students complete all requirements for the Ph.D., including the dissertation, in one of the participating departments. Minimum coursework for the Critical Theory Designated Emphasis consists of four courses. The first three of these, Critical Theory 200A, 200B, and 200C are taught by affiliated faculty, with 200A normally being taken first. For the fourth course, students have the option of taking another section of Critical Theory 200B or an approved course from any affiliated department.

Graduate Adviser. Consult Critical Theory Program office.
