ENGLISH, BACHELOR OF ARTS

College of Letters & Science

The Major Program

The study of English develops skills in reading analytically and perceptively and in writing clearly and effectively. Students major in English by taking courses in a wide variety of media, genres, topics, and historical periods. All students are introduced to the major by completing 20 units spread over courses in writing, any one of many topics courses, and the gateway series to the English major that covers "Literature in English" from the earliest medieval texts to the present. Students then build their own path through the major depending upon their particular interests, eventually completing 44 more units covering different historical periods, methods of theory and criticism, and thematic focuses. After a shared set of courses, students choose to specialize either in Literary Criticism and Theory or Creative Writing. All majors have the opportunity to work with distinguished writers, critics, scholars, and teachers.

English majors learn how to:

• Write clearly and effectively.
• Think creatively and analytically.
• Organize and communicate ideas creatively and efficiently.
• Analyze and critically evaluate language and other forms of representation.
• Understand texts within their historical, political, and cultural contexts.
• Recognize and evaluate various perspectives, through creating or reading fiction, drama, and poetry.
• Evaluate how fictional and non-fictional narratives structure thought and action.
• Read long texts closely, analytically, and efficiently.
• Respond spontaneously with organized, clear statements and ideas.

Career Options

Graduates have found the major excellent pre-professional training for careers in teaching, writing, law, medicine, library work, journalism, and more. Many graduates are employed in publishing, marketing, advertising, or the tech sector. Others have worked in local, state, and federal government agencies, as well as in industry. Many have gone on to graduate study in a wide range of fields including English, education, counseling, and more.
