The Program of Study

Environmental Science & Policy is a teaching and research department offering courses, workshops, and directed group study classes that focus on the complex trade-offs that arise from interdependencies between natural and human systems. The department offers Bachelor of Science degrees in Environmental Science & Management (<https://catalog.ucdavis.edu/departments-programs-degrees/environmental-science-policy/environmental-science-management-bs/>) and in Environmental Policy Analysis & Planning (<https://catalog.ucdavis.edu/departments-programs-degrees/environmental-science-policy/environmental-policy-analysis-planning-bs/>). Courses in Environmental Science & Policy (p. 1) also supplement major programs in a wide variety of established disciplines.

Current Information

Through its continuing contacts with many other departments and teaching divisions on the campus, the department develops a variety of special courses and workshops each year. Check with the Department office for up-to-date information about our courses and workshops.

Graduate Study

The Graduate Group in Ecology (<https://ecology.ucdavis.edu/>) offers an M.S. and Ph.D. degree program. The Environmental Policy & Management (<https://epm.ucdavis.edu/>) graduate program offers an M.S. degree program.
